The Field Hockey team was handicapped by lack of time to practice, due to the late starting date of Goshen College Fall term. For this reason, coach Sue Roth sought some solution for subsequent years, to lengthen the field hockey season. The short season necessitates either a compressed season, of the usual number of games in a few weeks, or to settle for a smaller number of games each year.

Kori Miller, No. 2 player, was 5-1 for year.

Basketball

The basketball team got off to a slow start but finished the season strongly as one of the top four teams in the small college state tournament. Judy Sommer and Trish Albrecht co-captained the team with the nucleus from last year's team joined by two Hesston transfers, Karen Egli and Rita Bare; two Ball State transfers, Gayle Perry and Elaine Bigler; and three freshmen, Cheryl Mast, Sara Shenk and Ann Garl. Julie Froese and Trish Albrecht lead the team in scoring and high rebound awards were earned by Froese and Sommer, the only senior. The team ended the season with a record of 9-7.

Women's Track and Field

Women's track and field records tumbled repeatedly during the team's third year under Coach Sue Roth. The squad of 15 women set 18 records in the six meets. Two years ago, only six women competed in track.

Top point-maker for the Leafs was sophomore Elaine Bigler, a sprinter. Close behind were senior distance runner Anne Crawford, freshman field performer Cheryl Mast, and junior sprinter Barb Carbaugh.

Leafs Snap Notre Dame Winning Streak

Pete Hershey demonstrates amazing skill in ball control.

The 1978 Goshen soccer season came to a close with a fairly respectable record of 12 wins, 3 losses and a tie. For the third consecutive year Goshen won their District 21 Championship, thus qualifying for the Area Tourney.

The team reached this position through a combination of offensive power and defensive containment. Giving up an average of one goal per game, Goshen's defense was ranked eighth in the National Association Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

The two high scorers, Jay Moyer and Paul Sawatsky accounted for 27 goals and 21 assists of the 42 goals and 43 assists achieved by the team as a whole, earning each a spot on the Mideast All Star Team.

One of the highlights of the year for all the team members was the win over Notre Dame, snapping their 26-game winning streak and helping deny them a bid for the NCAA playoffs.

Overall I think the whole team had a great time and yet were serious enough about it to put in a great season.

Groups and Organizations

Home Economics Club

Catherine Mumaw (right front) served as advisor to the Home Economics Club.

The Home Economics Club dealt with international issues as well as those pertaining to students. During the Hunger Emphasis week in November, the club publicized the "Fight for Food" television programs and co-sponsered discussion groups following the programs. They continued to raise awareness by placing miniature billboards on the cafeteria tables, emphasizing the complex third world hunger problem.

The club explored the job possibilities for their graduates in Home Economics. A panel of recent Home Economics grads, a presentation by members of Home Economics in Business and a regional student Home Economics conference in Chicago provided insights for career opportunities and handles for getting those jobs.

A Chapel, "Kids of the Kingdom" prompted by the International Year of the Child, led the student body to reflect on the role of children in the Kingdom of God. Dr. Evelyn Rouner, guest lecturer for the Olive G. Wyse Honor Lectureship, spoke on the competencies needed for improving the well-being of the world's children.

WGCS Advances to Stereo Broadcasting

The past several years have shown a steady upgrading of equipment at WGCS with an aim toward stereo broadcasting. At the beginning of the 78-79 school year, a more powerful stereo transmitter was purchased from WAUS in Berrian Springs. With stereo sound, WGCS will begin its third decade of broadcasting in the Fall of 1979.

Nursing Students Association

The Nursing Students' Association had many interesting and informative programs during the Fall and Winter Trimesters. Several programs included: Transcultural Nursing, Pain Control, Self Defense, Embalming Tour, Child Abuse, and our annual banquet at the Lucky Steer Restaurant. We are now in the process of writing our Philosophy of NSA. There seems to be a decreased interest in joining NSA. We are trying to involve Freshmen and Sophomores as much as possible so that they can see the importance of this pre-professional organization. NSA was much more involved in the community this year and we sold T-shirts as our money-raising project. We were quite fortunate to have three of our local members serve on the State IANS Board.

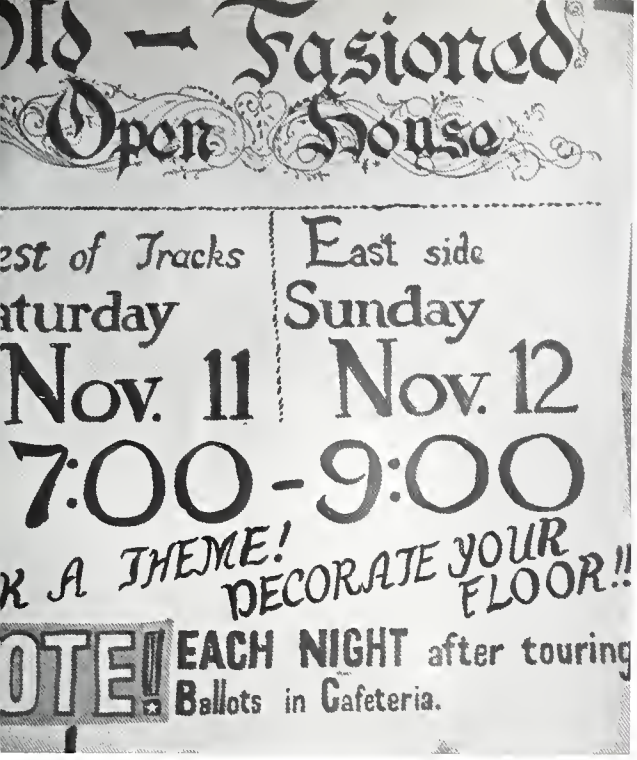
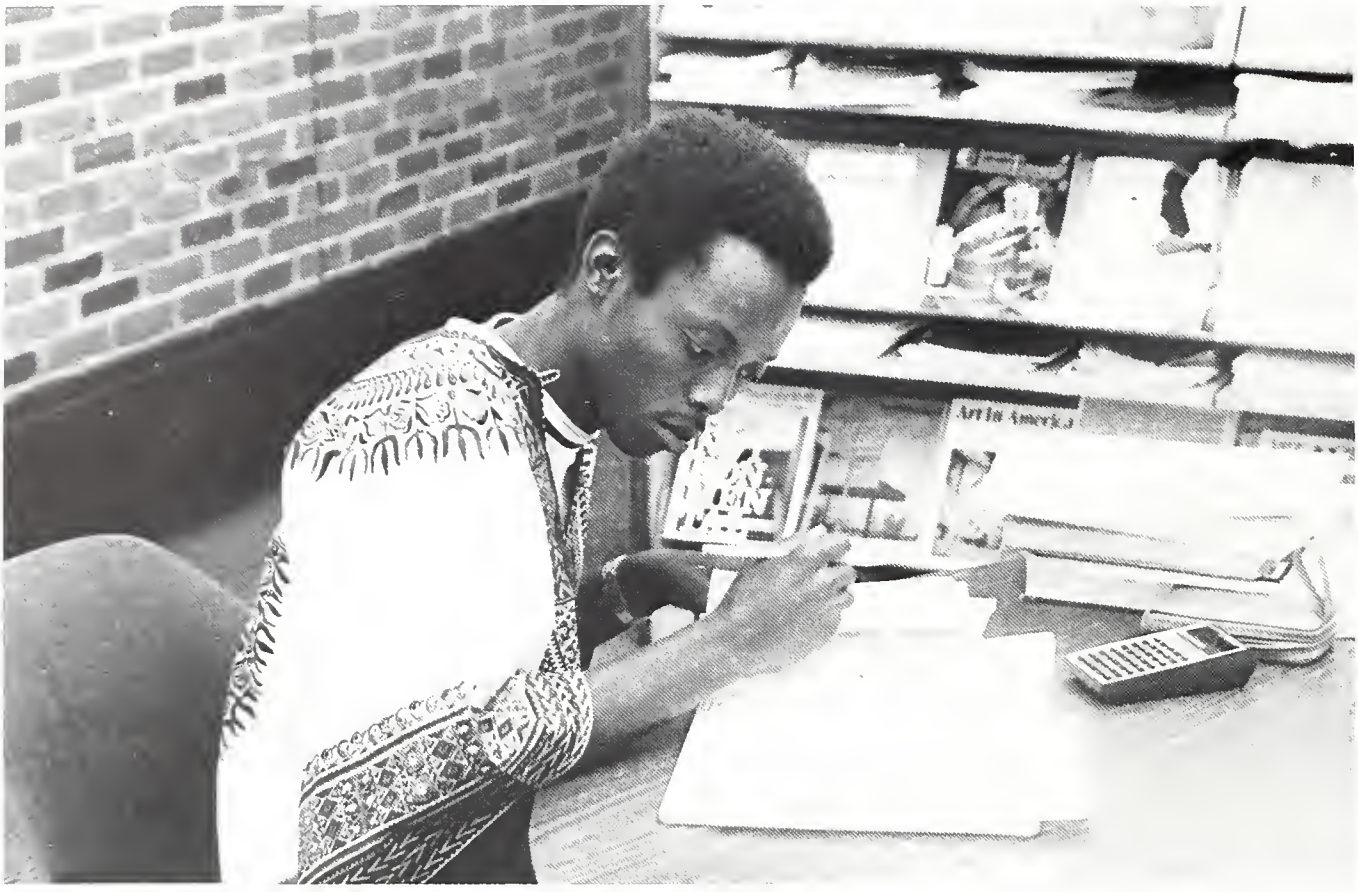
GCNSA President



C.A.C./G.C.C.C.

Campus Activities Council (C.A.C.) worked with the Student Activities Offices to sponsor, Carnival, Maple Leaf Festival, the Fall Coed Volleyball League, and Old Fashion Open House.

Goshen College Community Council (G.C.C.C.) worked on the Mission of the College statement, sponsored a re-sale of used textbooks, and initiated a Changing Sex Roles Seminar.



One of the activities of the International Students Club was an International Exposition (pictured above) where artifacts clothing, crafts, and music were on display.

International Students

There were 80 international students on campus this year. The college defines international students as any student who has a non-immigrant visa.

Academics

BELOW: Nancy Ryan. BOTTOM: Marcia Richer.

Education

One of the larger departments, Teacher Education prepares classroom teachers for early childhood, Kindergarten-primary, elementary, middle school and secondary education. There are new Mini-centers in the Instructional Materials Center for middle school studies and resource materials for learning disabilities and other handicaps in children. Special efforts are made to include bilingual and multi-cultural education in all programs. Laboratory Kindergarten is celebrating its 20th year as it continues to be one of the outstanding facilities statewide for early childhood education.

Home Economics Department

House Design and Equipment students Charlotte Schrag, Carol Harder, Johanna Beun, and Marceil Yoder consider costs and aesthetics under the direction of Edna Shantz, professor of home economics.

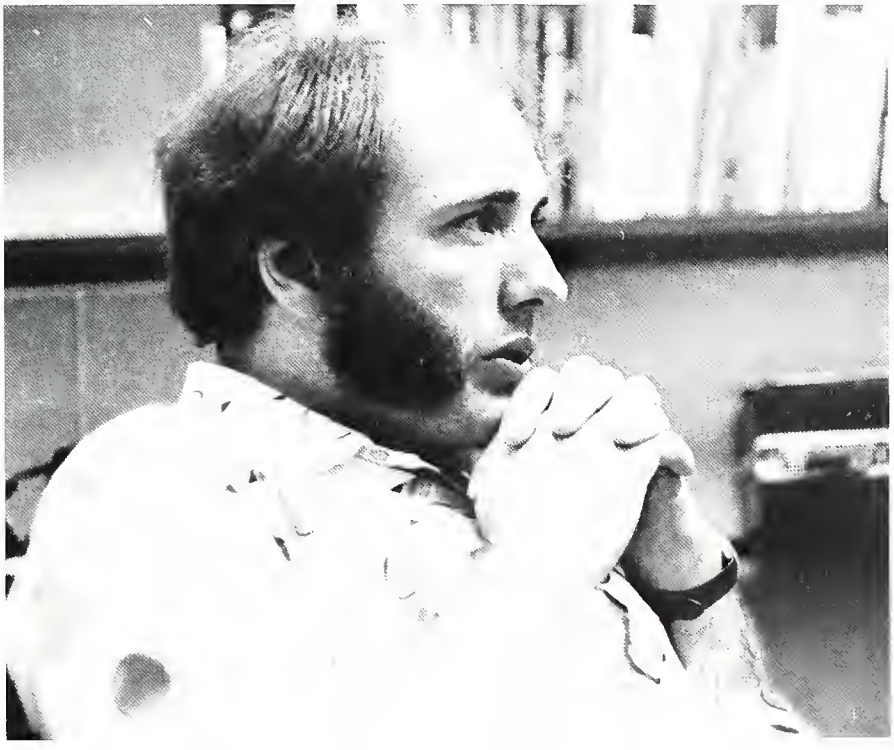
Psychology Department



Professor Alvin Dueck (left) gives serious thought to a question during an office interview.

Atlee Beechy (below) knows that it makes psychological sense to inject a little humor into the classroom. His general psychology students during the second spring term seem to agree.

Foreign Language

The Foreign Language Department instructs future SST-ers so that they can communicate with people like the little girl pictured to the right. The department encourages students to spend their Junior year abroad. This year 21 students chose this option, studying in Strasbourg France, Marburg Germany, Barcelona Spain, India, and Japan. The department also offered a spring term in Bogata Colombia.

Computer/Math

In 1978, PDP 1170 became Goshen College's computer system. With 16 screens, the computer serves most of the offices in the Ad building besides professors and students. Each year the college hopes to expand its use of this almost unlimited system.

Students Observe the Eclipse

Thanks to Bill Miller, Professor of Astronomy, students witnessed the last major eclipse of the century. Using a telescope, Prof. Miller projected the eclipse onto a piece of cardboard, making it possible for all to view the eclipse safely. Pictured right, Ahmed Haile takes a look at the eclipse.

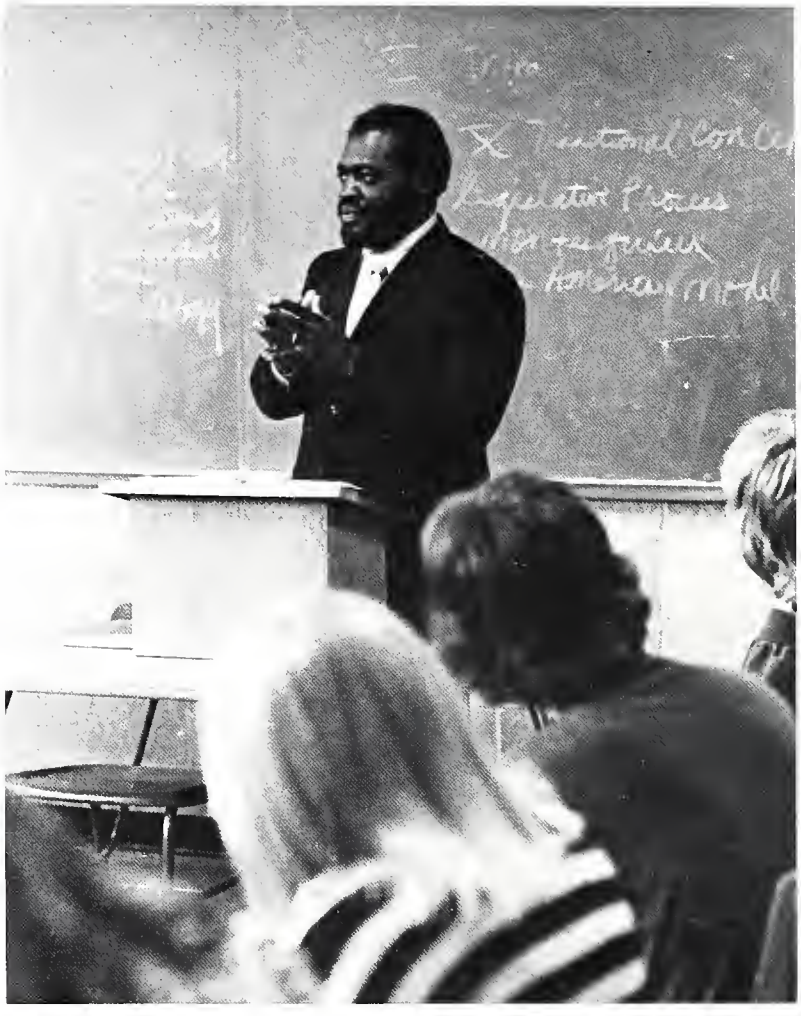
History and Political Science Department

Lee Roy Berry (right), associate professor of political science, traces the American separation of powers concept to the thinking of Montesquieu.

John Rees (below), churchman from South Africa, helped raise awareness of the complex political, social, and spiritual issues there in a series of lectures.

The history of Africa (below right) was the topic for a spring term course taught by James Hertzler, professor of history.



Business and Economics Department

Alumni in business (above) returned during homecoming to give counsel to aspiring entrepreneurs. Among those participating in the "career fair" was accountant David Stauffer (top left), who is also a part-time instructor in business at G.C.

The intricacies of economics seem more understandable after a course with Carl Kreider, professor of economics (below).

Art Department

Courses in the Art department ranged from on campus ceramics which experimented with primitive firing, to a study of art in Florence, Italy. The large size of classes in Design I, Drawing II, and Painting, indicated a widespread interest from majors outside the Art department.

Music Department
Part of Goshen College

Music has always been important at Goshen College. Most music majors and many non-majors participate in one of the choirs or in the Orchestra or Jazz Band. The results of their hard work and fun are the many fine concerts and recitals heard throughout the year. The community is also treated to recitals given by Professors. The Music Department was happy to welcome the Hoffeckers to the faculty for a year.

Nursing

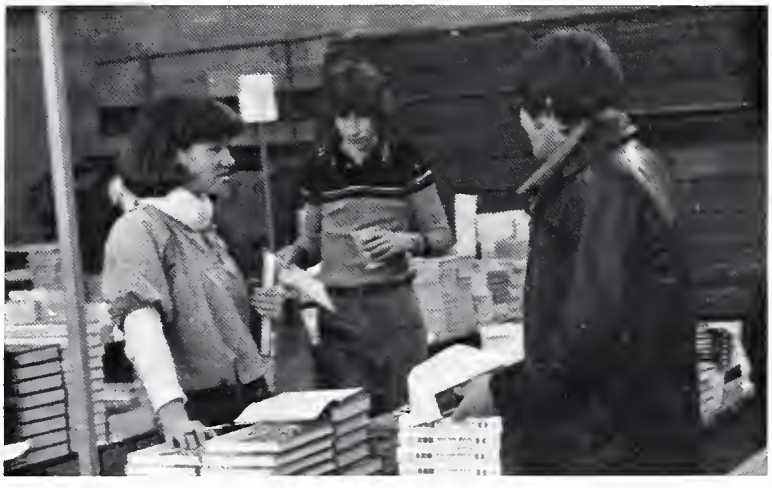
SST '78-79

The SST Units of 1978-79 included groups in Honduras, Haiti, Costa Rica and Belize each Trimester, and a unit in Korea during Spring Tri. But, wherever we went, how can anyone begin to describe what happened on SST? I had to become adjusted to a completely new way of daily living. Some days I could feel myself changing so fast that it felt like everything inside of me was uprooted and jumbling around, needing to be silenced and settled into place. It was a beautiful, exciting feeling to get in touch with new realms I'd never known existed. I love the people and the places that were so much a part of my changing. They touched my life in a way that I will never forget; what my eyes and heart have seen and felt; especially to learn that it is enough just to be.

Pam Liby

Getting in Touch with Being

Hurry Up . . .
. . . And Wait



Everyone looked forward to registration three times this year, anticipating the easy pace. Once you'd made it through the OUTSIDE line (top; fall) and waited through the INSIDE line (middle; winter) you were obliged to wait in line to pick up your books.

Actually, with the possible exception of a few "rush hours", when freshmen mobbed the scene, it wasn't all that bad.

Goshen College Adapts to the Handicapped

Housing

The Fall Trimester saw a flurry of attempts to adjust housing to meet demands.

Jeri Miller (left) had little trouble with overcrowding. Her roommate moved out of their Kratz 4th room after 2 days of rain came through a leaky roof.

A possible solution to ease the housing situation was the proposed renovation of Kulp for use as group housing. Several plans over many years failed to stir up the necessary support, but necessity demanded action on the formerly closed building. New stairways and better fire protection were main targets.

The group pictured below inhabited Howell House for the Fall Tri. Competition was stiff for small group housing, and standards for choosing 1979-80 groups came under fire in letters to the Record editor. Instead of written statements on group life, goals and carefrontation, seniority was the final criterion used in selection of the following year's groups.

Another Big Year: Carnival VII, 1979

Carnival VII, Winter '79, grossed a record-breaking $4,582.83, and netted about $3,000.00.

The Carnival supplied opportunities for GC students to apply creativity, raise money for a worthy cause and just generally have a good time working together. The fun that was unavoidable during the Carnival evening (March 5, 8-11:30 or so) was a welcome by-product as well. This year's earnings went to local concerns.

Old-Fashioned?

The Carnival was a project of the Campus Activities Council, under the direction of Dwain Hartzler. Another CAC activity was "Old-Fashioned Open House", reminiscent of a time on campus when visits to dorms housing members of the opposite sex was permitted only once a year.

The Open House was scheduled separately from the Maple Leaf Festival, of which it has at times been a part, allowing more time for planning of floor decoration. At left, Barb Liechty hosts the Legg Show on Westlawn 3rd. Other costumes of the weekend are pictured throughout the yearbook.

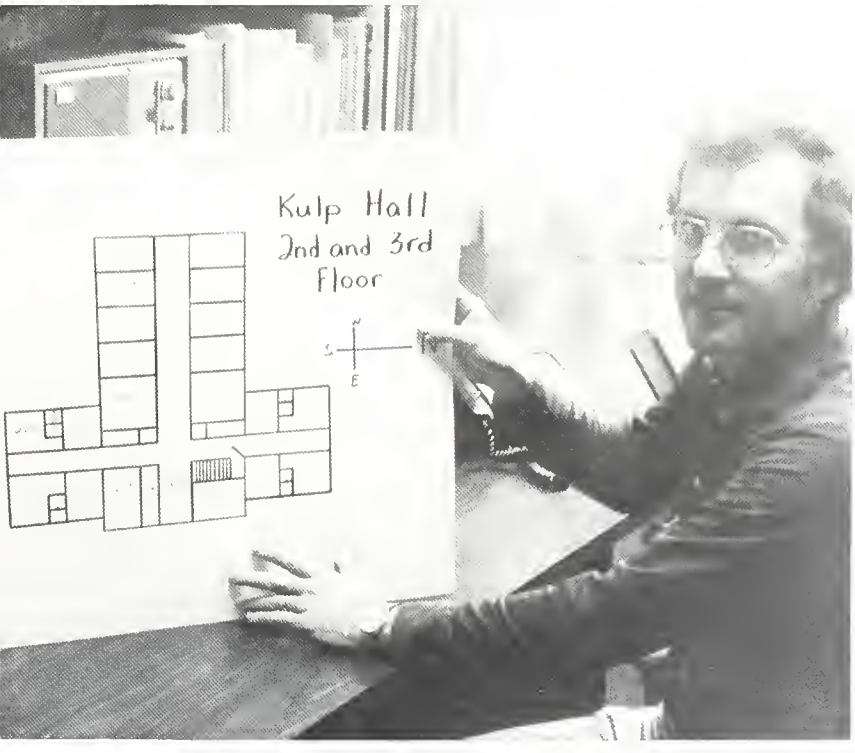
This year's attractions included the Pie Throw (far left; Brigette Hudicourt laughs her last), Face Painting (below left), Hoop Toss above, with Joyce Horst and Millie Tan), Flower Delivery and many more creative booths, besides several "stock" booths, like the Hoop Toss, provided by a carnival company.

The traditional soft drink stand was known as "Frank and Ernie's", a lumberjack theme. The soft drinks failed to earn top dollar, for a change. Kulp Annex edged them out, grossing over $1,500.00 with their "University of Southern Goshen" T-shirts, featuring Mary Oyer and 606.

Umble Center Completed, Dedicated at Last

On Saturday, November 4, 1978, the John S. Umble Center was dedicated. A beautiful dedication service, complete with a brass quintet processional, was held in the afternoon. Throughout the year, the building was put to full use with various performances, movies, and classes.

John Miller finds a spot to relax in the re-decorated Westlawn lounge.



Associate director of student services, Larry Rupp, displays the renovation plans for Kulp Hall.

Student-Directed Plays Take the Stage

"Never was a play more professionally performed at Goshen College" exclaimed a veteran play viewer at the first showing of "Waiting for Godot". The Play, written by Samuel Beckett, was directed by Mary Ette Kramer, a sophomore in Communication.

Senior Amy Monteith directed a very ambitious production; "Nobody's Fool", a musical written by her brother, Gene.

The big production by the GC Players for the Fall Tri, "As You Like It", can be seen on pages 6 and 97.

"Ride, Ride" Tells The Story of John Wesley

In March, Goshen College Players presented the musical "Ride, Ride." First performed in London, England on March 2, 1976, Goshen's production of "Ride, Ride" is one of the few performances of the play in the U.S.

Sophomore Ingrid Stephanie Curry, 1959-1979.

To Ingrid, With Love

INGRID

Here I sit numbed with pain
Knowing Ingrid's gone and nothing will ever be the same.
Yesterday seems so far away
As I think of things she used to say
I sit here hoping that this is all a dream
But I am wide awake and all is that it seems.
Why Oh why did Ingrid die
From this moment on, cold her body will lie.
I feel empty and cold inside,
As I truly realize that Ingrid
is no longer on my side
At this moment I feel down and helpless and my soul feels lost and helpless
Why Oh why do I feel this way
As I know her soul in heaven shall always play.
Her heart was warm and abound with Love.
From here on I shall no one above her
For she had charisma that just made you love her.

S.H.A.C. Pushes Railroad Safety

The Student Health Advocacy Committee (S.H.A.C.) with the assistance of Dr. Williard Krabill, struck out against the hazards caused by the railroad running through G.C. campus. S.H.A.C. hopes to raise awareness of the dangers to an extent than an overpass will be built over the tracks.

"Congratulations Class of 79"

"This is the beginning of a new day. God has given you this day to use as you will. You can waste it — or use it for good, but what you do today is important, because you are exchanging a day of your life for it! When tomorrow comes, this day will be gone forever, leaving in its place something that you have traded for it. May it be gain, and not loss; good, and not evil; success, and not failure; in order that you shall not regret the price you have paid for it."
Best Wishes for a Good Life.

Sincerely,
V. H. Steury, President
